president's introduction cyprus red cross society 2015 achievements

The preparation of another annual report, allows us to see all that the Cyprus Red Cross Society (CRCS) has accomplished during the past year. It is with great satisfaction, if not pride, that I am addressing not only the readers of the CRCS 2015 Annual Report but, most importantly, the contributors to the successes of our Society.

In 2015, the CRCS carried out its humanitarian work in full compliance with the Fundamental Principles of the International Red Cross and Red Crescent Movement (hereafter referred to as the International RC/RC Movement), the legislation of the Republic of Cyprus and its own Statutes. The CRCS was supported, as always, by the commendable efforts of its Branches, the Youth Section, its members and several thousand volunteers, as well as its staff members.

An important activity in 2015 was the organisation of the Conference during which the CRCS Strategic Plan 2014 - 2019 was presented to the members, volunteers and staff of the CRCS.

The core humanitarian activity of the CRCS in 2015 was the continuation of the provision of assistance to refugees. An important area of concern was the cooperation and establishment of project agreements with the Icelandic Red Cross in Psychosocial Support Services, in legal advice to migrants and the assistance to refugees from Syria. For these projects a Migration Officer was employed and the contract of the Psychosocial Support Officer was extended.

In an effort to meet the humanitarian consequences of the financial crisis, CRCS diverted all its resources towards meeting local needs. True to its principles, during 2015 the CRCS responded readily and discreetly to the increased requests for humanitarian assistance and moral support on a daily basis. In addition to its traditional humanitarian activities, the other most important were the Easter and Christmas Love Campaigns which helped thousands of families, also in rural areas. Our main activity and concern was of course the CRCS Children Therapy Centre Stella Soulioti, while the largest and most important fundraising activity was the annual Pancyprian "Door to Door" campaign. Many other activities, among them blood donation, first aid training, road safety, disaster relief, psychosocial support, tracing and restoring family links services, made 2015 a really productive year.

To all those praiseworthy individuals who helped the CRCS to undertake the above humanitarian activities, I should like to express my appreciation, gratitude and warm thanks. To the members of the Council, the Executive Committee, the Branches, the Youth Section, as well as to our many volunteers, the Director General and to all the CRCS staff members, I wish strength, health and courage to carry on in fulfilling their noble responsibilities, in order to ensure that together we can all continue our humanitarian mission with even more success in providing better living conditions to the vulnerable people.

Fotini Papadopoulou
President

cyprus red cross society from 1950 to 2015

The Cyprus Red Cross Society (CRCS) was founded in 1950 as a branch of the British Red Cross. After the declaration of independence of the Republic of Cyprus in 1960 and the adherence to the Geneva International Conventions, CRCS was officially recognized by the Government of the Republic of Cyprus through the adoption of the law N.39 of 1967. Through this legislation, CRCS became an auxiliary body to the public authorities in humanitarian matters, using the Red Cross Emblem in accordance with the Geneva Conventions. The CRCS was recognized by the International Committee of Red Cross (ICRC) in 2012 and in 2013 was admitted in the International RC/RC Movement becoming officially the 188th member of the International RC/RC Movement.

The CRCS is an independent body operating in accordance with the Fundamental Principles of the Red Cross and Red Crescent Movement, the Red Cross Law and its own Statutes. The main governing bodies are the General Assembly, the Council and the Executive Committee. The CRCS Branches operate in all towns and are managed by their respective Committees. Since 1973, the Youth Section, in addition to its Central Committee, operates District Committees in each town. Most officers and members of the CRCS are volunteers.

Within the framework of its mission to help improve health, prevent illnesses, alleviate pain throughout the world, in times of peace or war and without any prejudice or discrimination, CRCS undertakes extensive activities which, among others, include the offer of humanitarian assistance, psychosocial support to vulnerable persons, fundraising campaigns, offer of First Aid lessons and training, blood donation, as well as activities to inform and to raise awareness of the Red Cross mission, its principles and the protection of the Red Cross emblem.

Of particular importance was the assistance provided by CRCS during the Turkish invasion of 1974 with regard to the evacuation of the population which was expelled from areas under Turkish control, taking care of the wounded, providing housing and assistance to meet the needs of the refugees, the reunification of families, the transmission of messages, the return of prisoners, locating the missing persons, as well as providing assistance to meet the needs of the enclaved persons. To this date, CRCS continues to send all necessary basic provisions and other aid to the enclaved persons and helps with covering their needs whenever they visit the free areas; it continues to issue certificates of captivity and of having been an enclaved person.

CRCS carries out a wide variety of other important activities such as disaster preparedness and management, psychosocial support, tracing and restoring family links services, blood donation, First Aid lessons, training of staff and volunteers, tree planting, road safety, participating in European programmes, organizing humanitarian and community events, assistance to migrants, asylum seekers and refugees, as well as organisation of seminars and camping for the youth. Especially noteworthy are the activities of the CRCS Children Therapy Centre Stella Soulioti, which since 1957 has been offering therapeutic treatment and rehabilitation to children with disabilities.

The above mentioned extensive activities of CRCS are not limited to Cyprus but are also extended overseas. CRCS responds to various appeals of the International Movement and in many cases CRCS has sent humanitarian support to Sister Societies whose countries have been affected by floods, earthquakes and other disasters. Its largest projects abroad were the building and equipping of a large hospital in Sri Lanka, the financing of the completion of a second one in the same country and a Community Medical Centre in Karatoula-Oleni, Greece.

In 2015, because of the urgency to address the increased local demands for humanitarian assistance due to the financial crisis, CRCS had no other alternative to diverting all its resources towards meeting the increased needs of the people of Cyprus. The only exceptions, as far as international assistance was concerned, were relatively modest donations for the victims of the earthquake in Nepal, the conflict in Syria and towards the emergency appeal for Greece.

IN MEMORY

Dina Kakoyianni

The CRCS family has lost one of its oldest members, Mrs. Dina Kakoyianni, who passed away on 26 September 2015 at the age of 85. Dina Kakoyianni, was President of the CRCS Paphos Branch, an Honorary Member of the Council and a distinguished person in the community. The CRCS was represented at the funeral by its President, Mrs. Fotini Papadopoulou, who expressed the deep condolences of the Council to her family.

humanitarian activities in cyprus

During 2015, the CRCS, as a purely humanitarian organisation, continued to focus its activities on addressing the needs of vulnerable people. Although 41 years have elapsed since the 1974 invasion of Cyprus by Turkey and the standard of living in Cyprus has risen to rival that of developed countries, the largest part of humanitarian assistance which the CRCS offered in Cyprus, was diverted to the enclaved people, as well as to other groups of vulnerable persons. Faithful to its principle of providing aid without discrimination, irrespective of ethnic origin, nationality or religion, the CRCS included Turkish Cypriots, as well as a large number of migrants and asylum seekers amongst its beneficiaries. The financial crisis of March 2013 has also affected seriously the CRCS, with most of its financial resources being lost or frozen, and donations and income in general diminished. In 2015, however, the CRCS spared no effort to meet the local humanitarian needs, which were highly increased.

Addressing Social Needs, Health & other forms of Vulnerability

In 2015, because of the increased humanitarian needs caused by the financial crisis, CRCS decided to divert all its resources towards meeting local needs. Consistent to its principles, the CRCS during 2015 responded readily and discreetly to the increased requests for humanitarian assistance and moral support on a daily basis. The humanitarian activities of the CRCS included, among others: the provision of food; medicine; clothing; footwear; cleaning and hygiene materials; psychosocial support; financial support; supplying wheelchairs and rehabilitation equipment for those with special needs; providing companionship to the lonely and visits to hospitals; elderly peoples' homes, prisons, schools and institutions for the disabled.

Family Assistance Cards

The CRCS continued to regulate and control the distribution of humanitarian assistance, by using the “Family Assistance Card”, which includes all the personal data of the recipient and his/her family members, as well as the dates and the kind of assistance he/she receives. Before issuing a card, CRCS volunteers visit the family at their place of residence in order to evaluate their socioeconomic conditions. The card also includes regulations for the CRCS staff and volunteers, as well as for the beneficiaries, and it is used by all the Branches all over the island.

Easter & Christmas Love Campaigns

The CRCS, in an effort to meet the increasing humanitarian needs, continued the organisation of the “Love Campaigns”, which had started in 2012. During 2015, two campaigns were organised with success in support of the increasing number of persons affected seriously by the financial crisis. During the two campaigns the CRCS distributed nationwide 6.500 packages of love, including more than 20 food items each. In cooperation with the Ministry of Education and Culture, additional packages were distributed to families with children attending primary schools in rural areas of the Nicosia district. This assistance was in addition to the breakfast offered by the CRCS Youth Section to students of secondary schools. Although a small quantity of food items was received from individuals, companies and organisations which had responded to the CRCS's appeal, most of the cost was covered by the CRCS. Warm thanks were expressed to all of them, as well as to its many members and volunteers who had worked for many days in order to prepare and ensure the timely delivery of the food packages, including deliveries in very remote and isolated villages of the district of Nicosia.

On 11 December 2015, a Press Conference was organised at the CRCS Headquarters announcing to the public the generous donation of the ALFAMEGA Hypermarkets amounting to 20.000,00 Euro towards the Christmas Love Campaign.

Programme “Mirazome/Sharing”

The programme called “SHARING” (MIRAZOME) that was initiated in 2013 by the Nicosia Branch, continued during 2015. The programme provides for the distribution of hot meals to families and individuals in need. The meals are prepared by members and volunteers from the Nicosia Branch at their homes, at their own expenses. During 2015, a total number of 13520 hot meals were prepared and distributed. The implementation of the programme was very successful; more volunteers are expected to join.

Help & Services required as a Result of the 1974 Invasion

Despite the fact that the refugee population in general has largely overcome the consequences of the 1974 invasion and no longer required in kind assistance, some refugee families and elderly persons continue to need the support of the CRCS. The support of these persons and families is offered through the community work developed by the local Branches. Among other, it includes the provision of food parcels, clothing, medicines, financial assistance, psychosocial support etc. Further information on these activities can be found in the chapter on Branches. Other services offered by the CRCS are the provision of certificates to those who had been enclaved, as well as to captives of the Turkish invasion, who were released and their names are listed with the CRCS.

Support for the Enclaved

According to the records maintained by the CRCS, as of 31 December 2015, 445 persons - 339 Greek Cypriots and 106 Maronites - lived in the Karpaz Peninsula and the Maronite villages in the Kyrenia District. These enclaved persons, both in the occupied and also when they visit the free areas, received support from the CRCS in various forms. With the assistance of the United Nations Force in Cyprus (UNFICYP), the CRCS provided weekly dispatches to the occupied areas to help meet the needs of the enclaved, including, among others, medicines and medical equipment. In some circumstances, the CRCS also covered, among others, special needs requirements such as wheelchairs, oxygen bottles, and spectacles. In 2015, the CRCS dispatched 312 parcels including: 30 oxygen bottles; eye glasses; 190 parcels of medicines, two wheelchairs as well as mail. During the visits of the enclaved to the free areas, the CRCS covered all their needs, such as meals, transportation, hospital care and financial assistance. Furthermore, 178 individuals were transported by CRCS vehicles from the Ledra Palace check point to destinations all over Cyprus.

Support to Turkish Cypriots

Although the Turkish Authorities do not allow the CRCS to operate in the occupied areas and Turkish Cypriots are discouraged from contacting the CRCS, there were several cases where assistance was provided to them in 2015. Within its framework of humanitarian assistance “without borders and discrimination”, and in response to a request received, the CRCS donated wheelchairs and other mobility equipment to individuals and institutions for children with disabilities in occupied Cyprus. The majority of Turkish Cypriots living in the government controlled area of Cyprus are based in Limassol. On a number of occasions, the Limassol Branch provided assistance in the form of food and clothing. In some isolated cases, Turkish Cypriots residing in the occupied areas had asked for assistance from the CRCS Headquarters, as well as the Nicosia Branch. In conformity with its principles, the CRCS responded positively to calls for assistance.

CRCS helped with the implementation of an agreement between the leaders of the two communities regarding the uninhibited movement of ambulances from and to the occupied areas

Ambulances for the Occupied Areas with the CRCS Emblem

In fulfilling its mission as an auxiliary body to the public sector, the CRCS helped with the implementation of an agreement between the leaders of the two communities regarding the uninhibited movement of ambulances from and to the occupied areas. As of May 2009, ambulances carrying the insignia of the Ministry of Health and the CRCS emblem had moved between the occupied and the free areas of the island transporting sick or injured Greek and Turkish Cypriots. In 2015, six ambulances were used. The necessary arrangements for and the cost of the insurance coverage of the ambulance vehicles were undertaken by the CRCS.

Post Mortem Transfers to the Occupied Part

Pursuant to a decision taken in 2013, regarding the arrangements for the post mortem transfers to the occupied part of Cyprus, the Humanitarian Affairs Services of the Government in cooperation with the UNFICYP and the CRCS, monitors the crossing of the hearse and undertake the funeral arrangements.

crcs children therapy centre stella soulioti (former home for sick children)

Foundation of the Centre

The CRCS Children Therapy Centre Stella Soulioti (former Home for Sick Children) was founded by the CRCS in 1957 to serve sick and disabled children. By far, it is the largest and oldest project of the Society. During its 57-year history, the Centre has gone through four phases. The first phase was the period of its operation in Kyrenia (1957-1974), offering therapy services to sick and disabled children from all the communities of Cyprus, and residential facilities for both the staff and the children until the invasion of Cyprus in 1974. The second phase was the period 1980-1994, when its operation continued in Limassol, on a residential basis. Its third phase began in 1994, providing only day care services, and the fourth phase started in 2012, when it was renamed and renovated.

Post 1974 Operations

The occupation of Kyrenia resulting from the 1974 invasion made it necessary to build a new Home in Polemidia, Limassol. With the assistance of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR), the new Home commenced operation in 1980, with all the necessary facilities. The Home also offered boarding facilities until 1994; thereafter, however, it provided only day care services.

Cyprus Red Cross Society Children Therapy Centre Stella Soulioti

On December 2012, the Home for Sick Children was renamed to “Cyprus Red Cross Society Children Therapy Centre Stella Soulioti”, in memory of the former CRCS President Stella Soulioti, who not only pioneered its creation, but generously supported its operation with her unlimited care and love until her death.

Actually in 2012, the Centre made a new start through extensive renovations of its 30 years old buildings. Since then, from the operational point of view, it has been upgrading and extending its programmes, becoming a modern and high level Day Care Therapy Centre. Furthermore, it has accommodated in its large complex of buildings, the ELPIDA Day Care Centre for adults with disabilities, operating under the responsibility of the Theotocos Foundation, and the Special School for Children with Disabilities, operating under the responsibility of the Ministry of Education and Culture.

Services Offered

The Centre, the only one of its kind in Cyprus, treats around 75 children up to 18 years old, with severe physical and multiple disabilities, such as cerebral palsy, muscular dystrophy and other physical and developmental problems. In addition to medical and nursing care, the Centre offers physiotherapy, hydrotherapy, speech therapy and occupational therapy; it also provides mobility solutions for the children’s comfort. Close attention is paid to creating a family atmosphere, the children’s entertainment, facilitating their social integration and generally making the best possible effort to give them a better quality of life. The services offered by the Centre are constantly upgraded. A specialist Pediatrician supervises the general healthcare, cooperating closely with the Limassol General Hospital and foreign specialists. Dedicated therapy personnel and a fully comprehensive set of equipment provide healthcare and therapeutic treatment of the highest standard.

Collaborations

In cooperation with the Ministry of Education and Culture, the Centre operates a special school for children, offering, among others, special education, therapy, and psychological support. It also works closely with the Ministry of Health and the Limassol General Hospital to provide orthopedic, neurological and other treatments on a regular and ad hoc basis. Since 1998, the Centre collaborates with St. James' University Hospital in Leeds, U.K., in order to provide Botulinum Toxin treatment to children with cerebral palsy. Since the successful introduction of the treatment by the Centre, Botulinum Toxin is now also offered to children in State hospitals. Partnerships are continually being developed with many other bodies, such as government agencies, schools and other institutions for children with disabilities, parents, the British Sovereign bases – which offer hippo-therapy programmes – foreign organisations, European programmes for staff training, charity and other voluntary organisations.

Operational Costs

The Centre is largely supported by the love and care of the CRCS members and volunteers who cover the major portion of the financial requirements for its operation. The Government of the Republic of Cyprus through the Ministry of Health covers approximately 30 per cent of the Centre's operational costs; the remaining amount is covered by the CRCS, through funds raised at special events, fundraisers and donations offered generously by the ever-willing members of the public.

On the 8 July 2015, the CRCS Council decided that from now on a percentage of 25% of all the proceeds of the Door to Door fundraising campaign of the Branches and the Youth Section, will be given to the CRCS Children Therapy Centre Stella Soulioti as a contribution. This year's total contribution was 59,609.85 Euro.

Next Phase of Renovations

The next renovation phase will include the operation of a short stay unit, where children undergoing treatment and the person accompanying them, can stay for a short period. The new unit will be housed in the old Nurses Home building, a separate building next to the Children Therapy Centre, and after its renovation, it will also be used to host children with disabilities from other countries, who would like to come to Cyprus for a short visit.

disaster preparedness & management

Consistent to its mandate and guided by the Fundamental Principles and its own Statutes, to be always prepared to respond and alleviate human suffering in case of emergencies, CRCS has placed Disaster Preparedness and Management at the top of its priorities. With Cyprus being an earthquake prone country, its proximity to the troubled Middle East and the recent development of becoming a destination country for refugees, in close cooperation with the Government and other NGOs, tries, at the moment and manages to meet sufficiently the relevant consequences and needs. Although, in case of a larger manmade or natural disaster, the existing plans and resources are considered insufficient. Therefore, CRCS's original plan to reach a level of preparedness, allowing the provision of the necessary immediate support to at least 1000 victims of a possible emergency, is an urgent priority.

Cooperation with the Government

The CRCS has its own Disaster Management Action Plan (DMAP) involving all its District Branches. The DMAP is managed and coordinated by the Red Cross Disaster Management Committee. In its role as "auxiliary body to the public authorities on humanitarian issues", the CRCS works in close cooperation with the Government. This cooperation allows the CRCS, without losing its independence, to take part in the planning and the implementation of all the DM related activities. Depending on the nature of the disaster, the CRCS cooperates with one or more of the following Government Departments and Services:

- Ministry of the Interior: Civil Defence, Police, Fire Brigade.
- Ministry of Foreign Affairs: For emergencies involving arrivals of third countries national, migrants, refugees, etc.
- Ministry of Health: For pandemics and other health related emergencies.

The main Governmental Department the CRCS works with is the Civil Defence.

Activities

During 2015, the CRCS DM Committee participated in all the meetings and exercises of the ESTIA and ARGONAFITIS Government disaster management plans. In doing so, it took every measure in checking the required equipment, reorganizing the CRCS stores, and alerting its teams for emergency intervention throughout Cyprus. The DM Committee has been working very intensively in order to be ready in case of an emergency. Amongst others, it has organised or participated in the following:

"Argonaftis" exercise

Argonaftis is the largest national emergency and disaster management exercise which takes place in Cyprus once a year with the participation of the National Guard, Government Ministries and non-governmental organisations (NGOs), including the CRCS. The first preparations for the 2015 exercise started in January when details were discussed and roles assigned among the participants. The exercise took place from 28 to 31 May 2015, at the port of Larnaca. It was observed by representatives from different countries, embassies, the National Guard and many other Cypriot stakeholders. The CRCS's participation was very visible and drew many positive comments. The CRCS had an impressive participation and had a booth with all the necessary equipment which could be utilized in case of an emergency. Members and volunteers from the DM Committee, the HQs, the Larnaca Branch, staff and volunteers responsible for psychosocial support, tracing and first aid, participated in the exercise.

Assessment Mission Courses

CRCS continued its participation in the exercises organised by the Government of the Republic of Cyprus within the framework of the Assessment Mission Courses of the European Union. These exercises take place three to four times a year. Until 2011, the training was undertaken by two German companies in cooperation with the Cyprus Civil Defence, under the umbrella of the Ministry of the Interior. As of 2012, the responsibility for the organisation of the training is undertaken by the Cyprus Civil Defence, in collaboration with the two German companies. On 10 May and 29 June 2015, members of the Assessment Mission Course from various EU countries, consisting of four trainees and one leader, came to the CRCS Headquarters, where members of the CRCS DM Committee presented them a virtual scenario of an earthquake which occurred in the island and elaborated on the measures taken and also the kind of assistance CRCS would need from the countries of Europe in order to cope with the crisis.

Warehouse

The Disaster Management Committee (DMC) continued its efforts to improve the operational effectiveness of the CRCS, by enriching further the equipment and materials of the new large Disaster Management warehouse which was built in 2011.

Shelter Facilities

In 2015, CRCS continued its efforts to fulfil its vision to have the capacity to be able to provide shelter to up to 1000 persons in case of an emergency. The CRCS Disaster Management Committee is working on a study in order to secure the necessary know-how, equipment and materials.

Response

During the recent years, the CRCS was involved in the following disasters and emergency situations:

- Lebanon Crisis, Summer 2006
- Fires in Saita, Cyprus 2007

Arrival of Refugees

In 2015, the CRCS was on alert and continued the activation of its Disaster Management Action Plan in preparedness of possible massive arrivals of third-country nationals and refugees to Cyprus. The Branches and the Youth Section were continuously kept informed on the developments and were asked to increase their level of readiness, and to inform their members and volunteers to be on the alert. CRCS held a number of meetings with all the relevant governmental bodies and the Civil Defense; all the relevant emergency procedures were checked and activated.

Throughout 2015, CRCS provided humanitarian assistance to all the refugees who arrived in Cyprus. (for more details, see the relevant section on the “MIGRATION ISSUES”).

BE A HERO. SAVE LIVES

First aid is for everyone, everywhere

first aid

First Aid is a traditional Red Cross activity and one of the oldest for CRCS. Recognising its vital importance, and how valuable and essential assistance provided to the survivors of accidents and other emergency situations may become, CRCS considers First Aid one of its most important programmes. Consequently, CRCS's goal has always been to raise public awareness and encourage participation in its First Aid courses and training. Unfortunately, CRCS's First Aid activities are at the moment basically concentrated on the provision of training, and has not yet organised many First Aid teams, an objective which must be given more attention, if not priority. Nevertheless, the First Aid Committee has organised a considerable number of activities for the CRCS members and volunteers, as well as for the general public, and its continuously trying to enrich and improve its work.

Courses & Trainings

The most important activity of the CRCS First Aid Committee is the organisation of courses and trainings, which are being regularly updated and upgraded in order to secure high quality of services and respond successfully to the ever increasing competition in the field. The considerable increase in the number of road accidents, as well as the wide availability and increased utilization of mechanical and electrical machinery, both at home and at work, which in turn increase the risk of accidents and injuries, were additional reasons to strengthen the First Aid courses. CRCS is an officially recognized First Aid Training at Work provider, certified and licensed by the Department of Labour Inspection of the Ministry of Labour and Social Insurance, to offer the following two training programmes:

- First Aid at Work - Emergency Incidents (6 hour course), and
- First Aid at Work (18 hour course)

Embracing the slogan “First Aid save lives”, during 2015, CRCS organised 34 First Aid courses, in Greek and in English. The total number of individuals trained was 379 (191 men and 188 women) and the total income received by the Society for organizing the courses was 15,872.00 Euro.

Train the Trainers Course

Following the constantly increasing demand for First Aid courses and the consequent raising need for qualified and experienced First Aid instructors, the CRCS organised a Train the Trainers Course from March to April 2015. Ten (10) persons have successfully completed the exams and joined the team of the CRCS First Aid instructors.

Agreement between the CRCS & the Ministry of Defence

After finding out that in most Army camps, provision of First Aid services was not available, the CRCS proposed to the Cyprus National Guard, to help them establish such services. Following several meetings with the National Guard during 2014, on 30 November 2015, the CRCS and the Ministry of Defence signed an Official Agreement for Cooperation. The main objective of the agreement is for the CRCS to provide all the necessary training and knowledge, in order for the 106 Military Hospital to be able to fulfill the approved criteria and become a qualified and certified First Aid provider for First Aid Courses at Work. Once this objective is attained, the CRCS will continue providing the necessary technical support as long as it is needed.

Immediately after the commencement of the implementation of the Agreement, nine (9) members of the National Guard Hospital's staff were successfully trained by the CRCS as First Aid instructors.

World First Aid Day

On the occasion of the World First Aid Day which was celebrated on Saturday, 12 September 2015, (every second Saturday of September each year), CRCS circulated a dedicated poster. The poster called on the public to learn First Aid and to always have a First Aid kit at home, in their car, and at work. The poster's slogan was “Be a hero. Save lives”.

migration issues

Migration has been central to the concerns of CRCS in the last few years and following the continuously increasing flow of people towards the European Union (EU) in search of safety and protection, it has now become a significant priority. In 2015 there have been a number of significant developments in this area.

CRCS Migration Committee

The Migration Committee (MCOM) established regular monthly meetings. By the end of 2015, the MCOM consisted of 10 members, including the Migration Officer who coordinates and facilitates communication between the MCOM and the Management. The CRCS PERCO Representative is also a member of the MCOM, bringing input from developments in Europe and beyond. MCOM members came from a variety of backgrounds, including a Law Professor, a practicing Barrister, two Social Workers and a Psychologist. The MCOM is currently going through a period of discussing and reforming its role, in light of the regional and local developments on migration and in line with the priorities set up by CRCS. We envisage to reform the Committee in 2016, with its members becoming more involved in the field, instead of just contributing to planning, networking and advocacy. The role of all kinds of contribution is greatly recognised and we strongly believe that members will be able to compliment and support each other with the experience gained in their respective fields.

PERCO Representation

CRCS PERCO Representative, Mrs. Andri Agrotis represented the CRCS at both meetings of the Platform for European Red Cross Cooperation on Refugees, Asylum Seekers and Migrants (PERCO) in 2015. A meeting took place in May 2015 in Helsinki, Finland, where PERCO presented its strategy for the years 2015-2016. The second meeting of the year took place in Vienna, Austria in October. At this meeting, it was observed how the structure of migratory groups has changed, since they now consist of families and thus, humanitarian needs not only have become more complex, but also more serious. During this meeting, all participants visited Austria's largest asylum seekers' accommodation facility in Traiskirchen, giving the opportunity to participants to learn about the daily activities and services provided at a Reception Centre of such a big scale.

Participation in Workshops & Conferences

Due to the significance of the issue of Migration at the moment, there are continuous workshops, trainings conferences and seminars taking place in Cyprus and abroad, giving the chance to professionals from the field to expand their knowledge, understanding and skills in this area. CRCS Staff had the opportunity to attend the following events in 2015:

Seminar on questions of citizenship and statelessness (7 October 2015, Nicosia)

It was organised by the Representation in the Republic of Cyprus of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) and the Office of the Commissioner for Administration and Human Rights (Ombudsman). The seminar aimed at starting a discussion among key government and civil society stakeholders from a global perspective.

Seminar on the 'Effective and sensitive handling of asylum cases – Enhancing multidisciplinary preparedness and applying the EU Charter of Fundamental Rights in Practice' (8 October 2015, Nicosia)

The seminar was co-organised by the Cyprus Academy of Public Administration, the European Council on Refugees and Exiles (ECRE) and the Hungarian Helsinki Committee, with the financial support of the EU. The objective of the seminar was to further develop the knowledge and capacities of asylum professionals in Cyprus, focusing on procedural issues and quality standards.

Two-day meeting on the ‘Reception of asylum seekers in the EU’ (16-17 November 2015)

The meeting was hosted and co-organised by the Belgian Red Cross and the Red Cross EU Office, inviting representatives of European NS to discuss reception conditions of asylum seekers in their respective countries.

Seminar on Refugee Family Unity and Reunification (26 November 2015, Nicosia)

The seminar was an initiative of UNHCR Cyprus and discussed, the situation in Cyprus, relevant case-law of the European Court of Human Rights in Strasbourg, and the Court of Justice of the EU in Luxembourg, as well as integration.

Panel Discussion ‘Refugee Crisis and Asylum issues’ (4 December 2015, Nicosia)

This event was an initiative of the student-led Group of Legal Education at the University of Cyprus. The CRCS was invited along with UNHCR Cyprus and local NGO KISA-Action for Equality to present their work in the field. The students also organised an on-campus fundraising campaign for the refugees, in order to support the work of CRCS.

Projects

‘Assistance to Refugees in Cyprus in 2015’ Project

Following an emergency rescue off the coast of Cyprus in September 2014, a considerable number of the Syrian refugees who were rescued refused to comply with the authorities' instructions to submit asylum applications upon arrival to the island. As a result, the Republic of Cyprus was under no legal obligation to take steps towards ensuring their welfare. Those who did not apply for asylum (107 in total) were accommodated in private accommodation. Specifically, 55 of them were offered accommodation by an independent organisation which is active in Cyprus. During the period from February 2015 to mid-August 2015, the CRCS was supporting them through the provision of food and other material help, with goods being delivered at their place of residence twice a week. The provision of these materials was subsidised by a donation of the Icelandic Red Cross.

‘Provision of Legal Assistance to Migrants in Cyprus’ (LAM) Project

Under this project a Migration Officer was appointed on a part-time basis, to undertake the legal assistance of migrants. This project was developed around two main objectives:

- a) The handling of legal cases of CRCS beneficiaries at an administrative/technical level and contribute to advocacy and policy activities of the CRCS with information/experience obtained in the field
- b) The preparation of basic legal trainings in the field of Asylum and Migration for CRCS volunteers.

It was agreed that complex cases requiring the input of an advocate at administrative level or court proceedings, according to national law, would be referred to organisations with extensive experience in the litigation of such cases.

A Case Registry and a Filing System were also established. In the six month period up to the end of 2015, a total of 8 cases were recorded, some with significant international elements which required communication with other NS. This project too is funded by the Icelandic Red Cross, for a one year period (2015-2016), currently extended up to June 2017.

‘Development and Provision of Psychosocial Support Services to the Menogia Detention Centre’

The CRCS has managed to secure funding by the European Economic Area (EEA) Financial Mechanism Grants for NGO's in order to examine the existing structures of psychological and social services in the Menogia Detention Centre (MDC) and, based on the findings, to proceed with the development and provision of psychosocial support services to the detainees and the staff. The main objective of the project was to secure the human rights of the detainees and promote their welfare. The duration of the project was one year, from July 2014 to July 2015, with an approved budget of 31,617.00 Euros.

in emergency situations, ensuring the coverage of basic needs is a priority for CRCS

For the implementation of the project, two psychologists and two social workers were employed who, based on a large number of interviews and specialized tests, collected and evaluated a substantial amount of information on the existing services and operation of the Centre, and submitted their recommendations to the CRCS. The evaluation reached the conclusion that the government services concerned did not have the adequate resources and staff to provide social and psychological services to the detainees. It was also indicated that the CRCS, utilizing humanitarian diplomacy skills, had managed to establish trust with the detainees, as well as with the management and staff of the MDC, which surely promised a successful achievement of the project's objectives.

Advocacy & Policy

In the context of the LAM project mentioned above, in July 2015 a number of authorities in Cyprus, relevant to Migration matters, were contacted by CRCS requesting meetings with representatives of these authorities and calling them to install contact points with which the CRCS would be able to maintain continuous communication. Most of them replied positively and meetings took place in the months that followed. In addition, upon the assumption of her responsibilities in June 2015, the Migration Officer arranged meetings with all relevant NGOs in the field of migration, aiming to inform them on CRCS activities and to receive information for the latest legal developments and trends on the ground. Existing communication with UNHCR Cyprus was strengthened. All organisations welcomed this initiative. Some expressed the opinion that the establishment of such programme would be especially beneficial to all, considering the fact that the CRCS enjoys the easiest access to emergency situations, due to its auxiliary role to the government.

The Director General had a number of meetings with the Ambassador of the State of Palestine in Cyprus, H.E. Dr. Walid Hasan, discussing challenges and concerns of Palestinian refugees in Cyprus. CRCS is currently in the process of establishing more firm strategic targets in this area.

Humanitarian Assistance by the Branches to Migrants, Refugees & Asylum Seekers

Steps have also been taken with a view to improve communication with and among all Branches, concerned with migration. In late October 2015, the Presidents of all Branches were invited to make arrangements for the Migration Officer to present the LAM project to the Council of each Branch. Moreover, each Branch continues its own programme for the distribution of Humanitarian Assistance at their local premises, while most Branches are also contributing to CRCS work in the field through the activities of those volunteers who have expressly stated a willingness and desire to work particularly with migrants and refugees.

Emergency Rescue Operations

Cyprus is not a popular destination country for refugees and the authorities are rarely called to respond to emergency rescue operations at sea. In 2015 there were four such emergency rescues, all of them taking place in the last quarter of the year, rescuing a total of 271 individuals. Usually volunteers from the respective Branch are present upon arrival at the port, while the Migration Officer and more volunteers visit the reception accommodation as soon as possible, in order to discuss with the rescued, ensure that adequate information concerning their rights and obligations has reached them and that all basic needs are covered. Most often, CRCS contributes to the coverage of such needs, in coordination with the Cyprus Civil Defence and/or other authorities. In emergency situations, ensuring the coverage of basic needs is a priority for CRCS. This included hygiene kits, shoes and clothes when necessary, water and snacks upon arrival and baby care kits for infants. Psychosocial Support volunteers ensure that all vulnerable persons are treated accordingly and that their needs are met under the supervision of the CRCS Psychosocial Support Officer, while Tracing and RFL services are readily available for those who need them. Once everyone rescued are accommodated in the Kofinou Reception Centre or another accommodation, CRCS continues to care for their welfare.

Activities at Accommodation Facilities for Asylum Seekers

In 2015, CRCS was present in 3 reception centres:

- i. Kofinou Reception Centre for Asylum Seekers
- ii. Kokkinotrimithia Camp
- iii. Dhekelia SBA Camp

Asylum seekers and persons enjoying international protection who reside in the urban city centres are assisted through the individual Branches.

The following activities usually take place in these centres, under the supervision of the CRCS Director General and CRCS Executive Committee:

- Distribution of humanitarian assistance

Initially the aim was to create Distribution Centres (especially one in Kofinou), where people would have the option to choose the items they need. However, for a number of reasons this plan was impossible to implement. As a result, CRCS register the needs of each person, individual packages are prepared and are then delivered directly to each person.

- Psychosocial Support Programme

The CRCS officer in charge of the Psychosocial Support Programme and her team undertake a number of activities aiming at offering psychosocial support to people in the centres. More serious cases are handled by professionally trained volunteers. The activities include separate activities for adults and children and are based on a community building approach. More information on these activities are available in the Psychosocial Support section of this report.

- Legal advice and support

These are undertaken by the CRCS Migration Officer, who is in communication with governmental authorities and services, other NGOs and UNHCR Cyprus, whenever the need arises.

- Interpretation

CRCS has a number of Arab-speaking volunteers to assist in these activities.

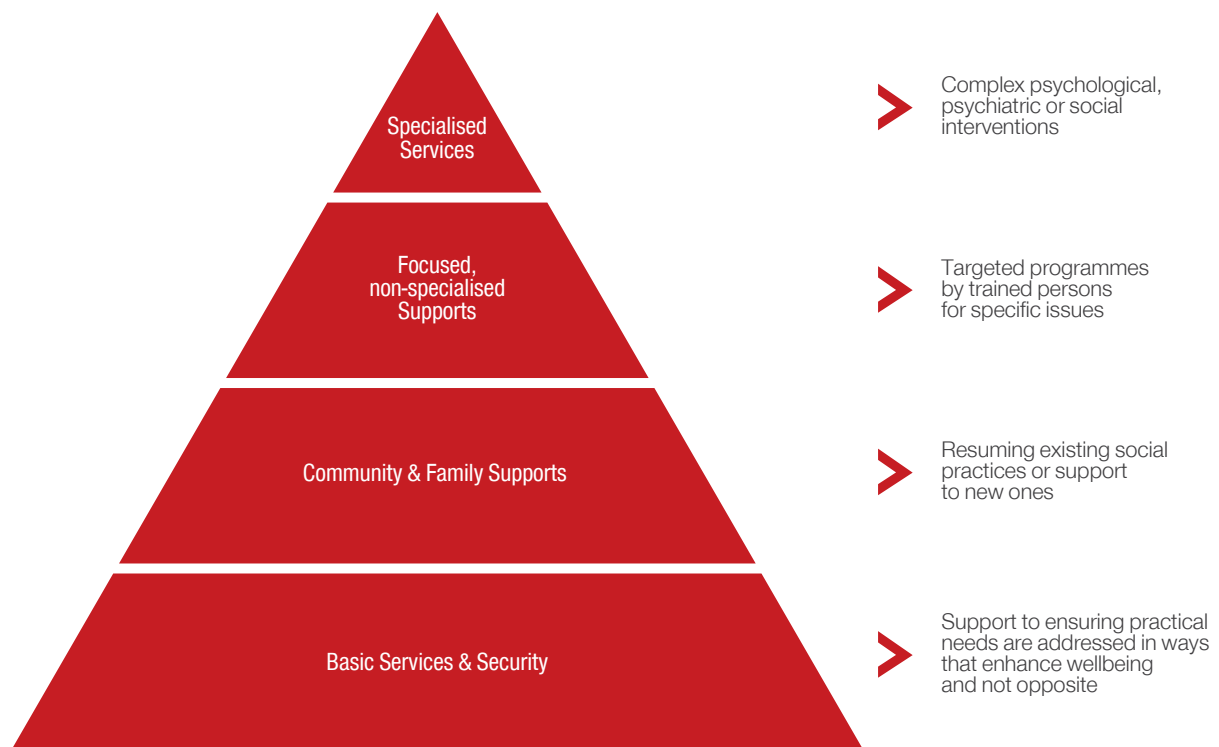

A final decision for a tender concerning the daily management of the Kofinou Reception Centre is still pending. It is expected that a number of readjustments will be necessary in order to ensure that our work there continues in good cooperation with the new managers of the Kofinou Reception Centre in 2016.

psychosocial support

Psychosocial Support (PSS) is defined by the Inter Agency Standing Committee (IASC, 2007) as: “Any type of local or outside support that aims to protect or promote psychosocial well-being and/or prevent or treat mental disorder.” According to the International Federation for Red Cross and Red Crescent (IFRC) Psychosocial Reference Centre: “The main purpose of psychosocial support is to build resilience – to increase the ability to absorb shock and bounce back – and to help people to cope with and recover from a disaster or critical event. Experience also shows that early and adequate psychosocial support can prevent distress and suffering from developing into something more severe, and will help those affected cope better and readjust more quickly to everyday life. Volunteers are often exposed to trauma, loss, devastation, injury, and even death; they also need psychosocial support.” Psychosocial support is therefore an important element of all Red Cross and Red Crescent activities and operations, including in the care for volunteers, delegates and staff.

Psychosocial Support in Cyprus

The program currently acts as a stand-alone program yet it is our aim to integrate it fully within all areas of CRCS work. In 2015 Psychosocial Support trained volunteers, intervened during the influx of Migrants from war-torn countries. Parallel to this, a small group of volunteers, begun working on a weekly-basis at the Reception Centre for Asylum Seekers, in Kofinou. Using the “Community-Based” approach, as recommended by the International Guidelines, our active volunteers have conducted needs assessments and found creative ways of implementing programs despite the limited resources. Throughout the year, the aim was to train volunteers in the IFRC’S Community Based Psychosocial Support training in order to be able to better respond effectively in all the strands of the Psychosocial Support pyramid, which we were able to achieve. Furthermore, the Psychotherapy Services grew through newly built collaborations with various training institutes and universities. The aim is to be able to continue to support our beneficiaries in a sustainable way.

Reception Centre for Asylum Seekers in Kofinou

In September, 2015 a boatful of people arrived in the coast of Cyprus- survivors of the ongoing crisis in nearby Syria. The refugees disembarked at the port of Limassol and were transferred to the newly established Government Reception Camp, at Kokkinotrimithia village. Although Cyprus is not a destination country and not even a desirable transit country, this was the second mass arrival, since the recent refugee crisis. The approach of the Asylum Services and the Civil Defence differed from 2014 in that the newly arrived people were convinced that seeking Asylum, was the way forward. Soon after their arrival, they were transported to the Reception Centre for Asylum Seekers, in Kofinou.

Since, the PSS program is active in the Centre and continues to support the Asylum Seekers and Refugees. Kofinou Reception Centre, theoretically has the capacity to accommodate 400 people. The infrastructure of the Centre, however proved inconsistent to substantially and adequately, provide a home for all the newly arrived people. Their sense of disorientation and overwhelming grief, needed to be contained.

The PSS program due to the experience of the previous arrival of 345 people, had put together a small team of specialized volunteers, able to respond in the case of such an event.

Additionally a cooperation has been established with Dr. Renos Papadopoulos, a world renowned psychoanalyst and refugee expert, working with Essex University in UK, who showed interest in the PSS initiative and willingness to voluntarily supervise the team from September and up until December 2015. The PSS officer, recruited a volunteer with a Doctorate in Psychology and experience with refugees to join the PSS team. Together, they visited the Centre twice per week and as a first step, held numerous therapeutic groups for the residents, with the aim to provide a space where their concerns and grief, could be expressed and contained.

In November, more volunteers received the IFRC Community- Based Psychosocial Support training and the four week on-site training until they were able to produce their own chosen projects based on the on-site needs assessment. Left without management for a period of at least 6 months, the CRCS PSS team was pivotal to the well-being of the residents of the Centre.

PSS Interventions in the Reception Centre for Asylum Seekers, in Kofinou

Arts activities for Children: focused, non-specialised Supports/ Integration/ Entertainment

Weekly Group by a professional Illustrator and Art educator, Natasa Charalambous

At the Kofinou Reception Centre for Asylum Seekers, preschool children are living in an unstructured environment. Mothers are preoccupied and often enough, unavailable. Language barriers render our communication with the residents, difficult. The weekly arts activities group was designed with the aim to work on the lack of daily activities and to establish a containing and creative environment which allows children, to just be children, whilst regaining a sense of normality. The activity promotes their participation and therefore integration in their small community. Furthermore the group uses the children's vivid imagination as a coping mechanism. Parents are invited to partake and even co-facilitate the groups. Due to the fact that the activity takes place parallel to the on-site Greek language classes, it offers the opportunity to mothers to attend their class and/ or to use this scarce free time, for themselves. The activity aims to bridge the gap between the Kofinou community and the wider community by building collaborations with local schools and afternoon art schools.

Film Screenings for Children and Adults: Entertainment/ Educational

Monthly event by a group of Visual Artist, Film Director and Illustrator

A team of volunteers (professional illustrator, film director and a visual artist) carefully choose films to screen on a Saturday or Sunday evening for the residents of the Reception Centre. Through networking and fundraising, they provide all the necessary equipment. The activity aims to entertain, educate and provide a sense of normality in people's lives. The project aims to grow, to provide the opportunity for the community to develop their interest in film and photography by providing photography classes and integrating the experience into projects which bridge the gap between the wider community.

Football: Community & Family Supports/Educational/Integration

Volunteer: Pablo Bermejo, Systemic Psychologist

Football has been successfully used, to bring different ethnic groups together at the Centre. At times of conflict within the community, this activity has been most useful. Values are being taught and often enough the activity manufactures dreams for both the children and the adults of the Centre. Currently run solely by the community for their community. Initially, a PSS volunteer, identified community leaders, found the needed materials from different organisations and actively engaged a local football team (Omonioia) in an agreement where Omonioia players visit the centre to speak and play football with the community, 50 children have attended football matches and are to be trained bimonthly, at Omonioia's training academies.

Greek & English language classes: Educational/Integration

The PSS team on-site needs assessment, concluded necessary the implementation of weekly language classes for the residents of the Centre. Further than common knowledge, studies have shown that language knowledge increases the Asylum Seeker's chances for integration. The PSS team has built collaborations with the Ministry of Education to provide weekly language classes at the Centre. Although this started off slow, the demand grew and resulted in the CRCS claiming the extension of the classes from November to June 2015, until 2016.

Specialised Services: Psychotherapy Service

The effects of the Global Financial Crisis and subsequent Recession of the Cyprus economy have spread to all sectors - Governmental, Non-Governmental and the Private sector, condemning the disillusioned general public to a vicious cycle of stress and helplessness. Often enough, basic needs were threatened and/or were unmet, while unemployment, poverty and homelessness had become an everyday reality for a growing number of adversely affected citizens. The CRCS has observed how economic woes translated to higher stress levels, which have given rise to a host of social ills - mental illnesses, a rise in domestic violence, unemployment, the breakdown of family bonds, children suffering neglect, and outbreaks of antisocial and criminal behavior. Although somewhat things have improved, the consequences of the crisis continue to disrupt.

CRCS PSS has built collaborations with training institutes approved by the Pancyprian Association of Psychotherapists, to provide specialized services to the CRCS beneficiaries who needed further support. Trainee psychotherapists offer their services whilst being supervised by their training institute, free of charge. The service begun in 2014 and has thus far referred 80 CRCS beneficiaries.

Training in Community-based Psychosocial Support

Following the Inter-Agency Standing Committee (IASC) on Mental Health and Psychosocial Support, the International Red Cross Red Crescent Movement formulated a comprehensive training kit for trainers. This training is our foundation course for building the skills needed to provide psychosocial support to vulnerable groups during times of crisis. The training is taught in an interactive and participatory manner. After the 3-5 day training, volunteers chose their field of interest from the available CRCS areas of work and continue their training in the program of their choice. For more information, on future trainings, please refer to the CRCS website.

other programmes & services

Management of Burial Arrangements

As an auxiliary body to the Government, the CRCS participates in the Ministry of Health's Plan of Action for the management of emergencies, such as in the case of pandemics. Among others, CRCS, in cooperation with the Archbishopric of Cyprus, is responsible for the funeral arrangements while the burial of the dead is the responsibility of the Church. The CRCS's responsibility includes additionally to contacting the hospitals, the police authorities, informing the family of the deceased and the relevant foreign Embassies and Red Cross Society, in case the dead person is a foreigner.

Tracing Services - Restoring Family Links (Rfl)

Every year, thousands of family members are separated by conflicts, disasters or migration. People suffer terribly when they lose contact with their loved ones and do not know where they are or whether they are safe and alive. The ICRC and the National Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies work together around the world to locate people and put them back into contact with their relatives. Tracing activities may extend well beyond the end of a conflict or a natural disaster. As members of the Family Links Network of the Movement and the National Societies, the CRCS cooperated with the Central Tracing Agency of the ICRC in Geneva, in order to restore contact between family members. In 2015 the CRCS considered 12 requests for tracing.

Anti-trafficking

CRCS is a member of the Anti-trafficking Network (now renamed to Action for Trafficked persons Network - ATN) and has appointed two focal points for trafficking in human beings. At the moment, no specific project on the issue of trafficking is running. Nevertheless, CRCS recognises the importance of this phenomenon and the devastation it causes. As a result, developments on global, regional and national level are continuously monitored, until CRCS is in a position to take specific action on the matter. This phenomenon is closely relevant to Migration and thus, communication is ongoing with relevant authorities and NGOs involved in this area.

Working Along Key Experts (Wake) Project

This European Commission granted project aims overall to improve the real, day-to-day situation of victims of crime to the greatest extent possible and to reduce their discrimination experiences in Cyprus. The specific objectives of the project are the identification of the training needs of the professionals of the relevant government authorities and other practitioners coming into contact with victims of violence and crime and to improve their capabilities through trainings, so as to operate in a more respectful, impartial and professional manner. Fostering the exchange of good practices on identification and screening processes of victims and their needs is another objective to be obtained through the proposed project, in addition to sustaining a network and good working relationships between the involved actors.

SPAVO, the Association for the Prevention and Handling of Violence in the Family is the Leader of the project and the Cyprus Red Cross Society is one of the Co-Leaders. The CRCS plays a crucial role in the implementation of all work streams, especially through spreading awareness among other NGOs, the practical engagement in the formulation of the training material and the organisation of the working groups and case studies for the key experts. The project started in November 2015 and will be completed in May 2017.

activities, campaigns & events

The rich and multifaceted work of the CRCS is the result of the active involvement and enthusiasm of its members and volunteers, which in 2015 was expressed through a large variety of activities, campaigns and events. A significant number of the CRCS's activities were of a long duration. Several short-term events also took place throughout the year. The size of the activities was determined by their goals, duration and geographic coverage. Most of the activities were primarily aiming at the raising of funds in order to enable the CRCS to provide various forms of assistance to vulnerable groups, which increased considerably after the financial crisis, and to raise social awareness on a number of important topics. Other activities, in addition to those covered under the "Other Programmes and Services" Section above, included: training of volunteers, promoting relationships and cooperation at the international level, as well as administrative and organisational issues.

"Door to Door" Pancyprrian Fundraising Campaign

The annual "Door to Door" fundraising campaign took place from 4 to 22 May 2015 all over the island. The sponsor of the 2015 fundraising campaign was Piraeus Bank and the Ambassador was the singer Vasiliki Hadjiadamou. The Campaign was launched on 29 April 2015 during a Press Conference at the CRCS Headquarters in Nicosia. The activity was declared open by H.E. Dr. Filippos Patsalis, the Minister of Health, during a ceremony which took place at the CRCS Headquarters, on 4 May 2015, in the presence of CRCS President, Mrs. Fotini Papadopoulos. The total amount raised was 259.748,23 Euro, a much higher amount compared to that of previous years. Proceeds from the Campaign were allocated towards meeting the increased humanitarian needs which were caused by the financial crisis, the operational costs of the CRCS Children Therapy Centre Stella Soulioti, as well as numerous other CRCS programmes. Once again, the "Door to Door" fundraising campaign provided also to the CRCS the opportunity to publicize and promote its aims and activities, as well as to offer Cypriots the opportunity to be part of a humanitarian society. On 3 July 2015, the CRCS President hosted in the gardens of her residence, the closing ceremony of the fundraising campaign to thank and honour the sponsor for their valuable assistance and the very successful promotion of the campaign, the Ambassador of the campaign, as well as the CRCS members and volunteers who had contributed to the success of the event.

Additional event by the Kyrenia Branch

On the occasion of the "Door to Door" fundraising campaign, the Kyrenia Branch organised an event on Saturday, 9 May 2015, at The Mall of Engomi, in Nicosia. The event was declared open by the CRCS President, Mrs. Fotini Papadopoulos and was attended, amongst others, by Government officials, the Mayor of Engomi, Mr. Zacharias Kyriakou, the Director General of the CRCS, Mr. Takis Neophytou, the President of the CRCS Kyrenia Branch, Mrs. Maroulla Angelides, CRCS members and volunteers. Excursion to Vietnam & Cambodia

CRCS, continuing its tradition of organizing annual excursions for its members and friends to several countries, organised an excursion to Vietnam and Cambodia from 2 to 15 October 2015. A total number of 52 persons participated. The group visited Hanoi, Hoalu, Tam Coc, Halong, Saigon, Siemreap, Kmer village and Tonle Sap River. Seminar on questions of citizenship and statelessness, 7 October 2015, Nicosia

This seminar was an initiative of the Representation of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) in the Republic of Cyprus and the Office of the Commissioner for Administration and Human Rights (Ombudsman) aiming at starting a discussion among key government and civil society stakeholders on the matter from a global perspective. This is a problem affecting more than 100 million people worldwide. Despite the fact that the Republic of Cyprus has taken the required legislative initiatives to accede to the 1954 Convention relating to the Status of Stateless Persons, many people residing in Cyprus still find themselves in legal limbo today, leading among others to a breach of a number of fundamental rights and lack of access services, which non-stateless persons usually enjoy. CRCS was represented by CRCS Migration Officer, Nadia Kornioti.

Audience included state officers, lawyers, NGO and UNHCR staff. CRCS was represented by a small delegation of staff and MCOM members. information & communication

In 2015, the CRCS website and its Facebook page and various groups remained the basic communication tools, through which the CRCS remained in contact with thousands of members, volunteers and friends in Cyprus and abroad. Furthermore, the CRCS carried out its information and communication activities, among others, through media relations activities, radio and TV interviews, press releases and conferences, public speeches, TV advertising, print ads and other promotional materials, such as PowerPoint presentations in Greek and English on the work of CRCS, as well as the 2015 desk calendar.

Monthly Diary of Events

In 2015 the CRCS continued preparing a monthly diary of events. The diary is a powerful tool that provides information on the planned activities for each month. It is distributed to the members of the Executive Committee, to all the Branches and the Youth Section, as well as the Children Therapy Centre “Stella Soulioti”, informing them on the upcoming events of the month.

Website

A major accomplishment of the CRCS in the field of information and communication was the upgrading of its website www.redcross.org.cy in 2013. The website was prepared in three languages - Greek, English and Turkish - and is a gateway through which a visitor can obtain information and facts, become aware of CRCS activities, have access to considerable amount of photographic and other material and make online donations. During 2015, the CRCS was able to manage and continuously update its website.

Social Media

Social media serve the social interaction among people through which they create, share or exchange information and ideas in virtual communities and networks. CRCS, in an effort to update members and volunteers about its events and programmes and attract new friends and supporters, created a group on Facebook in April 2009, named Cyprus Red Cross Society. During the years that followed, the CRCS's Subsidiary Units started creating their own groups and pages on Facebook. Currently, the CRCS has in total nine groups and pages on Facebook (www.facebook.com), as follows:

- Cyprus Red Cross Society
- Cyprus Red Cross Children Therapy Centre Stella Soulioti

- Cyprus Red Cross Society Nicosia Branch
- Cyprus Red Cross Society Limassol Branch
- Cyprus Red Cross Society Larnaca Branch
- Cyprus Red Cross Youth Section
- Saturday Red Cross Kids
- Cyprus Red Cross Youth Section Limassol

CRCS has also a YouTube and Twitter account.

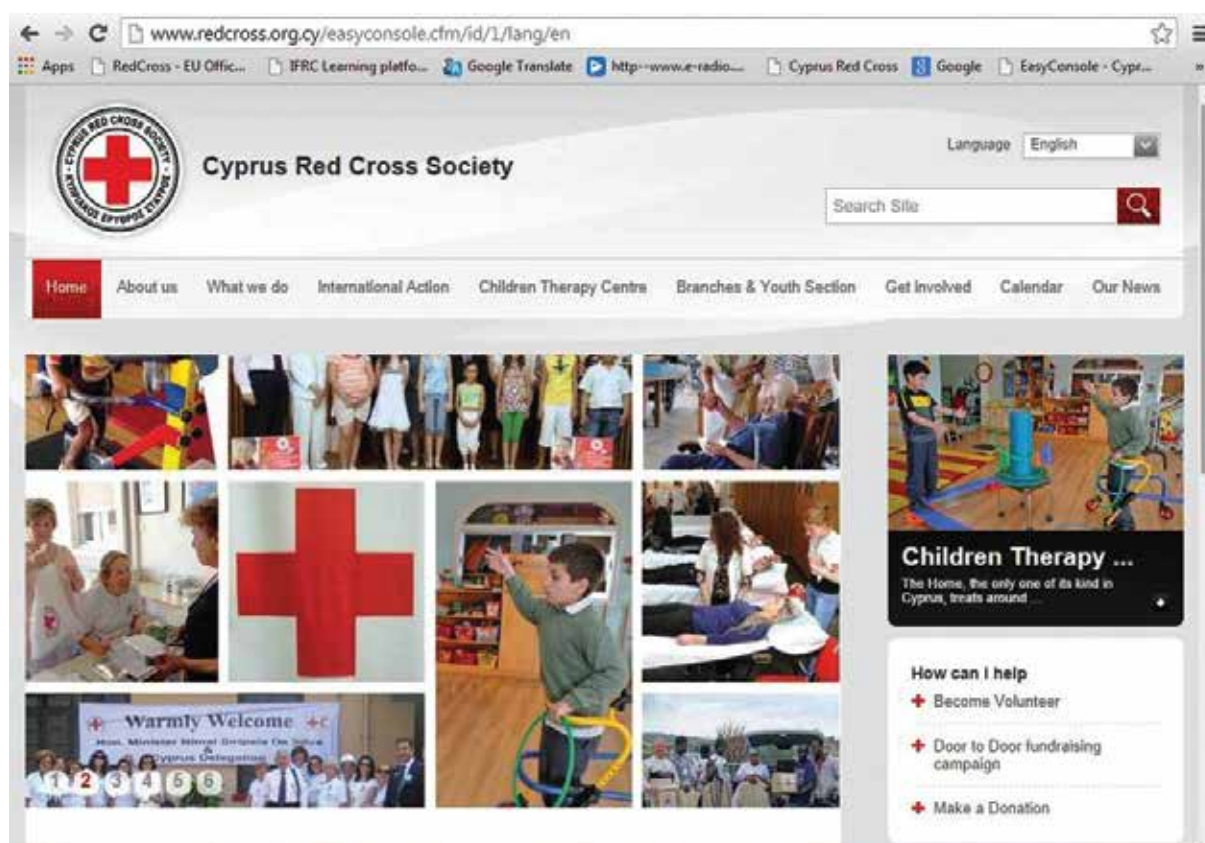

Desk Calendars

The calendars were distributed free of charge to CRCS members and associates, while a small number of copies were also sent to the ICRC and IFRC in Geneva, as well as the Red Cross EU Office in Brussels, the Regional Office of Europe in Budapest and other RC/RC National Societies. The production of the calendars was sponsored by H&P Accountants to whom CRCS expresses its sincere thanks and appreciation.

Continuation of the CRCS - Marketway/Publicis Collaboration

The CRCS continued its collaboration with Marketway/Publicis. Since 2009, the agency has acted as the communication and publicity consultant for all CRCS activities, free of charge. The CRCS expresses its warm thanks to Mrs. Barbara Petropoulou-Lillikas, Managing Director of Marketway/Publicis, and to all the members of the staff for their generous and valuable assistance and support in promoting with great success the CRCS activities, programmes and humanitarian work.

financial & internal information

The adverse economic conditions continued to prevail in the country during the year though the situation started to improve. Bearing in mind this, the overall financial position of the CRCS for 2015 can be considered as satisfactory. In general, the level of the Income was satisfactory and comparable to that of the previous years. The level of Expenses however was higher due to the pressure for providing assistance to needy people resulting either from the continuing adverse economic conditions in the country or from the influx of refugees from neighboring countries.

More specifically:

- The Headquarters ended the year with a small excess of Expenditure over Income that was more or less equivalent to the Depreciation Charge for the year. So in effect the Headquarters had a balanced Income and Expenditure in cash terms.
- The CRCS Children Therapy Centre “Stella Soulioti” ended the year with a significant excess of Income over Expenditure thanks to a significant increase in Donations and the completion of the Building renovations the year before.
- The results of the other Units are comparable with those of the previous years that show mostly increased Expenditure reflecting the continuing adverse economic conditions of the country.

CRCS Personnel

Although CRCS is basically a voluntary organisation and its extensive activities are carried out by several thousands of members and volunteers, its mission could not be accomplished without the significant administrative support, coordination and contribution of CRCS Staff. UNDP-ACT Project

The cooperation of the CRCS with several UN agencies goes back to 1974 after the Turkish invasion. The goal of the UNDP-ACT programme is to contribute towards a strengthened culture of cooperation and trust amongst all segments of the Cypriot society. In return to the accommodation provided to the programme's meetings and other services by the CRCS, in 2015 the UNDP-ACT continued its assistance to the CRCS (Project November 2013 - June 2015) through a project with a budget of 26.000,00 Euros. This amount was used to provide support towards the cost of staff, maintenance of office equipment, furniture and supplies.

Pierides Bequest

The CRCS Council decided to sell the house which was bestowed to the CRCS, by the Ioanna's and Argyro's Pierides bequest, since the CRCS Youth Section was no longer interested to use it as office and storage premises.
